

Friends of King William Animal Shelter Volunteer Roles

Friends of the Regional Animal Shelter solely relies on volunteers to support shelter programs, community initiatives, events, and more. If you're 18 or older, love animals, and enjoy helping people, there's a place for you here! No special skills or experience are needed—just bring your enthusiasm, creativity, and willingness to pitch in. Volunteers collaborate closely with everyone in their committee while working with their committee head to make a real difference for animals and the community.

Events Committee Volunteer

Help bring people together by assisting with planning, setup, and support for adoption events, fundraisers, and community programs.

Responsibilities: Support event planning and logistics, help with setup/cleanup at events, greet and engage with community members, and share event ideas with the team.

Fundraising Committee Volunteer

Work with both the Events and Marketing Committees to help raise donations for shelter animals and programs.

Responsibilities: Assist with fundraising ideas and projects, help create fun, community-driven ways to raise support, coordinate with Events and Marketing for promotions, and share success stories that inspire donations.

Friends of King William Animal Shelter Volunteer Roles

Marketing Committee Volunteer

Help share our story with the community through creative ideas and support. Marketing volunteers bring ideas, photos, and stories, and help with press releases and promotions.

Responsibilities: Suggest post ideas and share stories/photos (our team creates the posts), assist with press releases for new events, programs, and urgent needs, take photos at events, and help spread the word about Friends and the shelter in creative ways.

Got Special Skills?

If you love photography, enjoy designing flyers, or have other skills that could support the shelter, Friends, and our events, we'd love to hear from you! Your talents can make a big difference and help us reach more people—and more animals in need. Reach out and let us know how you'd like to contribute!
